FAQs

How does the program run?

Participants join the program at the beginning of their expedition. They attend a briefing and training session to review the operating procedures and the equipment. Each excursion unfolds based on the local conditions and the skill level of the group. When possible and desirable, during the excursion some time is also spent exploring on land.

What is the difficulty level of this activity?

On a 5-point scale (see the table to the right), the difficulty level is usually between 2 and 3 depending on the excursion. The program offers multiple extended, non-strenuous excursions. It involves physical exercise, potentially in challenging sea conditions and uneven terrain. Participants must have previous kayaking experience and must be able to swim.

What is the group size?

The maximum group size is 10 kayakers at a time per expedition.

Difficulty Level Scale

1	Non-strenuous activity, suitable for all skill levels
2	Extended but non-strenuous activity
3	Involves physical activity, potentially in challenging conditions
4	Strenuous, extended activity, requires good physical fitness
5	Very strenuous activity on untracked terrain, technical skills needed
